

Dung Nguyentran

I2CRP Class of 2024

What fueled your decision to apply to the I2CRP program?

My decision to apply to the I2CRP program was based on my early interest in underserved care and being with others who have shared values.

What are some of the highlights of your participation in the I2CRP program?

Applying for the I2CRP program was hands down the best decision in all of medical school. The program was many things for me -- a place of support for my interest in the medically underserved to take flight and my introduction to rural medicine. I had the opportunity of a lifetime to complete my clinical experiences in underserved areas throughout Virginia.

How has your participation in I2CRP impacted your experiences as a medical student?

The I2CRP program expanded my learning outside of an urban, academic medical center to include rural, community clinics and hospitals. Traversing these terrains helped me learn to problem solve the challenges of practicing medicine in places where access to healthcare services and resources can be limited.

“Applying for the I2CRP program was hands down the best decision in all of medical school. The program was many things for me -- a place of support for my interest in the medically underserved to take flight and my introduction to rural medicine.”

“I had the opportunity of a lifetime to complete my clinical experiences in underserved areas throughout Virginia. ”